

Increasing Access to High-Quality Curriculum for All

Early childhood educators can use a high-quality curriculum to help young children learn and grow. Yet many programs across Virginia do not have access to a quality curriculum. And, educators say they need more training and resources to use curriculum well.

In response, the Virginia Department of Education (VDOE) and the University of Virginia's Center for Advanced Study of Teaching and Learning (CASTL) will now offer a low-to-no-cost curriculum option, STREAMin³, for all publicly-funded birth-to-five classrooms.*

The curriculum provides a high-quality option for infant, toddler, preschool, and mixed-age classrooms. STREAMin³ will include training and professional development to support educators that choose to use the model in their programs.

Alignment to Virginia's Quality & Improvement ECE Initiatives

The VDOE added STREAMin³ to the approved curriculum list after conducting the comprehensive curriculum approval process. In addition:

- ◆ STREAMin³ aligns with Virginia's Early Learning and Development Standards.
- ◆ STREAMin³ supports skills and interactions that align to the Classroom Assessment Scoring System (CLASS®) and the Virginia Kindergarten Readiness Program (VKRP).
- ◆ STREAMin³ is aligned with VDOE's other key Early Childhood Education (ECE) initiatives (VQB5, AEII, VKRP).

About STREAMin³

STREAMin³ is an engaging, interactions-based curriculum for children ages birth through five. It was developed by a CASTL team in collaboration with, and funding from, E3:Elevate Early Education at The New E3 School. STREAMin³ is grounded in developmental and early education research. It focuses on 6 STREAM and 5 Core Skills to promote children's development and early learning.

*The STREAMin³ Curriculum Model was selected through a competitive process.
