Alignment of the STREAMin³ Small Group Stories to the Virginia Early Learning Standards (ELDS)

The Small Group Stories are an opportunity for preschool-aged children to continue to practice literacy skills during small group shared reading. The activities were intentionally designed to provide opportunities and support for practicing the Communicate skills: Print Knowledge, Early Writing, and Phonological Awareness. However, as children engage in these activities, there are also opportunities to support the other developmental domains across the ELDS. This integrated approach promotes learning and growth across a wide range of developmental domains, as is evident in the crosswalk to the Virginia Early Learning and Development Standards (ELDS). Therefore, there are many standards that are intentionally integrated into all the Small Group Stories, including:

- APL3. Executive Functions and Cognitive Self-Regulation: managing emotions and behaviors to support focus and attention
- SED3. Interactions with Others: relating to peers/adults, engaging in positive interactions, and problem-solving with others
- CLLD1. Communication: using and understanding language to share or gain information
- CLLD2. Foundations of Reading: engaging with print to extract meaning, build print concepts, and connect to spoken language
